

Student Member Benefits

Our Associate Members receive a number of important benefits which include receiving ADR Update, the electronic newsletter produced by ADR Ontario, as well as the Canadian Arbitration and Mediation Journal, the magazine published by ADR Institute of Canada. These publications are an excellent way to keep up with new developments in the field of ADR. Associate Members also receive important notices and news flash bulletins including job announcements, etc.

Special Interest Section Meetings

Special Interest Sections are one of the most unique and important benefits offered by ADR Ontario. These meetings, which are held at our offices two to three evenings a week, from 5:45 – 7:30, are free to Student Members. In addition to providing excellent information on topics of interest by exceptional speakers, these small informal sessions are outstanding networking opportunities. And we've got all the topics covered with Special Interest Sections on: Family ADR, Family Arbitration, Facilitation, OMMP, Workplace, Insurance, Construction, Public Conflict, IP and IT and Restorative Justice. For most of our members, section meetings alone are worth the price of membership.

Special discounts on a wide range of professional development opportunities that will allow you access to critical information, including skill development workshops, ADRIO events including the Meet N Greet and the June program following the AGM and the National ADR Institute of Canada Conference.
